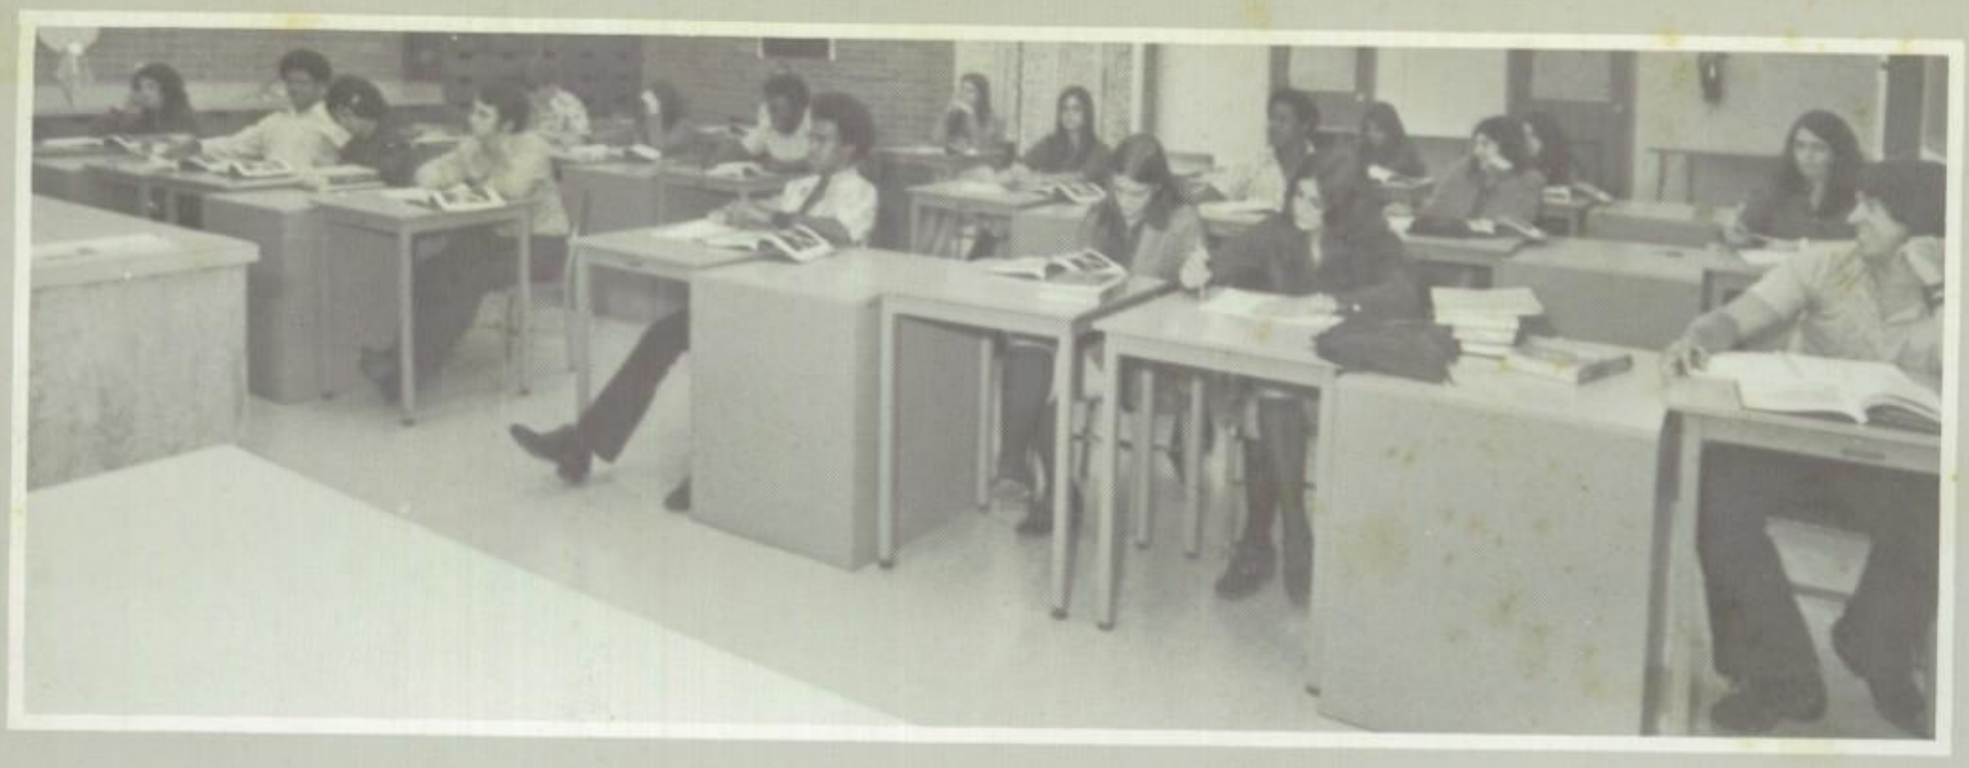
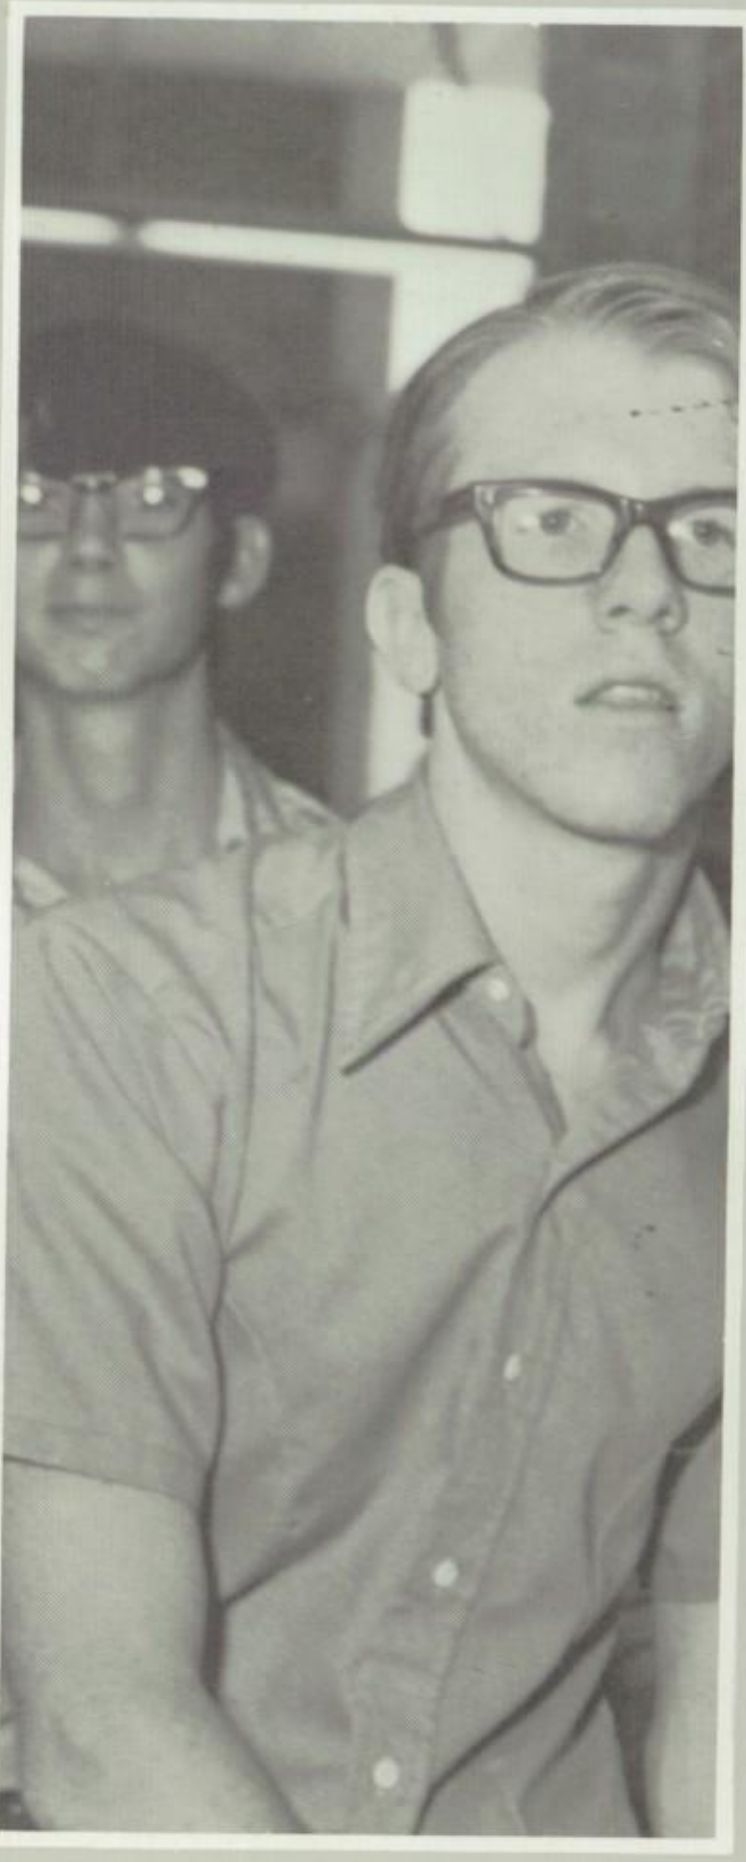
Volume III





The human face is the masterpiece of God. The eyes reveal the soul, the mouth the flesh, the skin stands for purpose, the nose means will; but over and behind all is that fleeting something we call "expression".

This yearbook has attempted to show you the faces of those whom we often forget. They are always there but are usually taken for granted. Therefore, we dedicate this yearbook to the "silent majority." We will no longer cease to remember their faces, for they are now firmly imprinted in our memories.

It is the common wonder of all men, how among so many millions of faces there should be none alike.

His face, the tablet of unutterable thoughts.

A man shall see faces, that if you examine them part by part you shall find never a good; and yet all together do well.

As you page through this beautiful edition of Spectre, we hope that it's like a visit to St. Louis High School. We hope that some of the meaning of St. Louis is discernible in the pictures, words, etc.

At St. Louis, we believe that everyone has a destiny intended by God, and that we must help each other discover his own.

At St. Louis, we believe that each of us counts for something -- that the world must be a better place because we have been in it. Hell, even on earth, is to face old age realizing that the world would have been better if you had not lived.

A St. Louis graduate has really been infected by the intended "Spirit of St. Louis" if at the end of his/her life that graduate will be able to say:

> "Because I went to St. Louis High School, I was not only a good housewife, artist, lawyer, carpenter, doctor, nurse, plumber, policeman, etc., but what's more important I was a person who knew how to live, to recreate, to love, to give, to share -- a person who knew how to live with myself, with God, with others."

Yes, we believe we have it together here, because we know Jesus lives-- and in Communion with Him there can be no discord and dissension that is lasting.

Chorus Worked on Christmas Contata

Under the able direction of Mrs. Audrey Winey, the St. Louis High School Chorus participated in a joint performance with the Drama Club at Christmas time this year. The Christmas Cantata was presented on Dec. 20 and was a huge success.

Among the choir's other activities was its first visit to State Music Rally, where they received one superior, three excellent, and one very good rating.

An education is not only an academic education; it includes character, leadership, service and love of God and neighbor. These ideals are now embodied in the Saint Louis Award, and this year's recipients are pictured on these two pages. These students were elected by a vote of their classmates and faculty. Awards were given at the Honor Assemblies on May 23 and May 25, 1973.

Early Admissions Offered Seniors '73.

Paula Burke

Early admissions was a new program at St. Louis this year. The purpose of the program was to expand the curriculum offered at St. Louis and was opened to seniors with a 3.5 grade average during their time in high school, and a recommendation from the principal. Students taking part in this program were eligible to receive a St. Louis High School diploma after completing 24 semester hours. They were considered college students and could not participate in co-curricular activities.

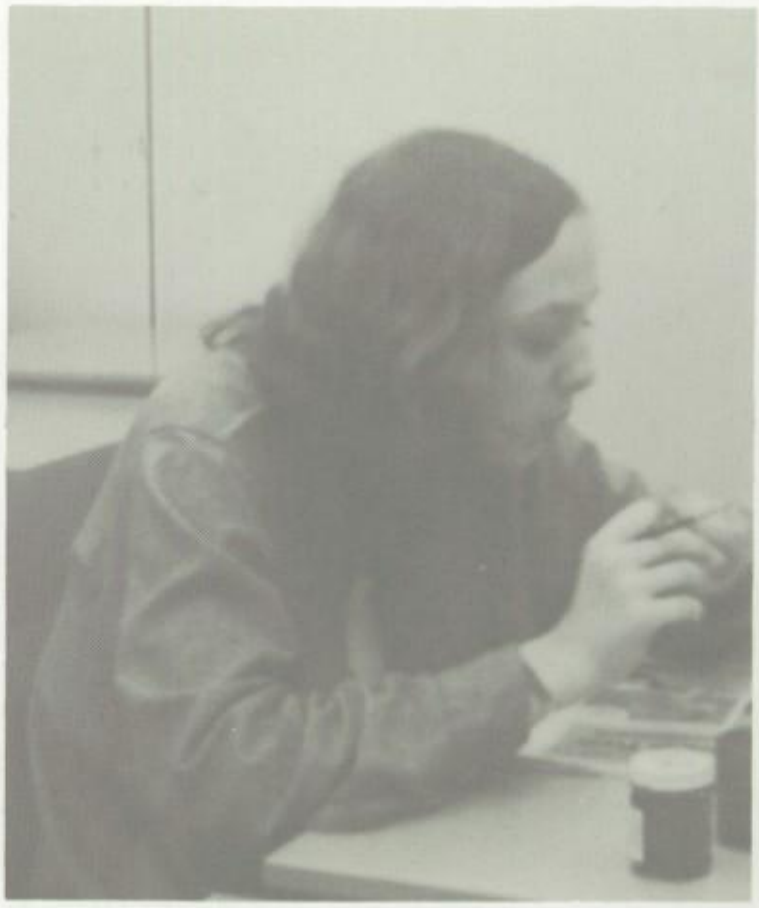
Tacky Day '73

Tacky Day was really successful this year; there were so many different ideas! The day started with the elections of tackiest girl and/or boy in the home-rooms. After a brief 25 minute stint in each of our classes, we assembled in the Student Union for some skits put on by different students. Before deciding on best-dressed, Carl Broussard, a junior, gave an impromtu performance. He got a standing ovation that he really deserved!



Tacky elections were held with winners Julie Malus (a white rabbit) and Francis Schwartzenburg (a German mafioso).

After school more fun developed at the Powder Puff football game. The Seniors/Freshmen team beat the sophomores and juniors 12-0.

Don't fight the feeling!

Coach Tom Couste was the weight-men coach for the '73 team.

"The 1973 Track season was a successful one. The team had many young members with the good leadership of the seniors they worked hard to improve. The team placed fourth at the District Track Meet and was the runner-up team at the Regional Meet. As a result of the Regional meet, we sent two relay teams and the discus to the State Meet in Baton Rouge. The younger members will miss the graduating seniors, but they will work hard to fill their shoes."

Organizations

The Student Council's purpose is to represent the students to the best of its ability. It is the Student Council's duty to offer ideas to the administration for consideration and to get everyone involved in activities such as dances, spirit in school functions, surveys, etc.

Some of the activities the Student Council sponsored this year were: after-game parties, political assemblies, Tacky Day, Christmas and Valentine Dances, Christmas baskets, Homecoming and Teachers' Appreciation Day.

St. Louis Blues Helped Cheerleaders Support the Football Team

This past year the St. Louis Blues showed their support by participating in certain fund-raising projects for the March of Dimes and the Heart Fund, besides the traditional marching in parades and football games. Their half-time show was prepared by Jeff Travasus, a senior at M.S.U. The Blues also provided much spirit and support at all times during the year.

The Latin Club Had a Successful Year

The Latin Club enriched the members' knowledge of ancient history and Roman culture, increased vocabulary, and promoted the study of Latin. Some members participated in community activities and gave presentations of Latin and Roman programs. The members of the Latin Club thoroughly enjoyed the year of 1972-1973.

Just Under the Wire!

SPECTRE '73 tried to focus on the faces of the silent majority--the typical St. Louis students who received little attention or recognition during the year, the ones rarely seen in yearbooks who actually set the pace and establish the spirit of the school.

This year SPECTRE, "an image from the past," was produced by a very small, dedicated staff during journalism class. Long after you left school for summer vacation this staff was still selecting photographs, writing copy, and editing its inevitable errors.

Under the capable leadership of this edition's co-editors, John Coffey and Pam Gabriel, the staff hopes you'll find treasured memories the third year of the history of St. Louis.

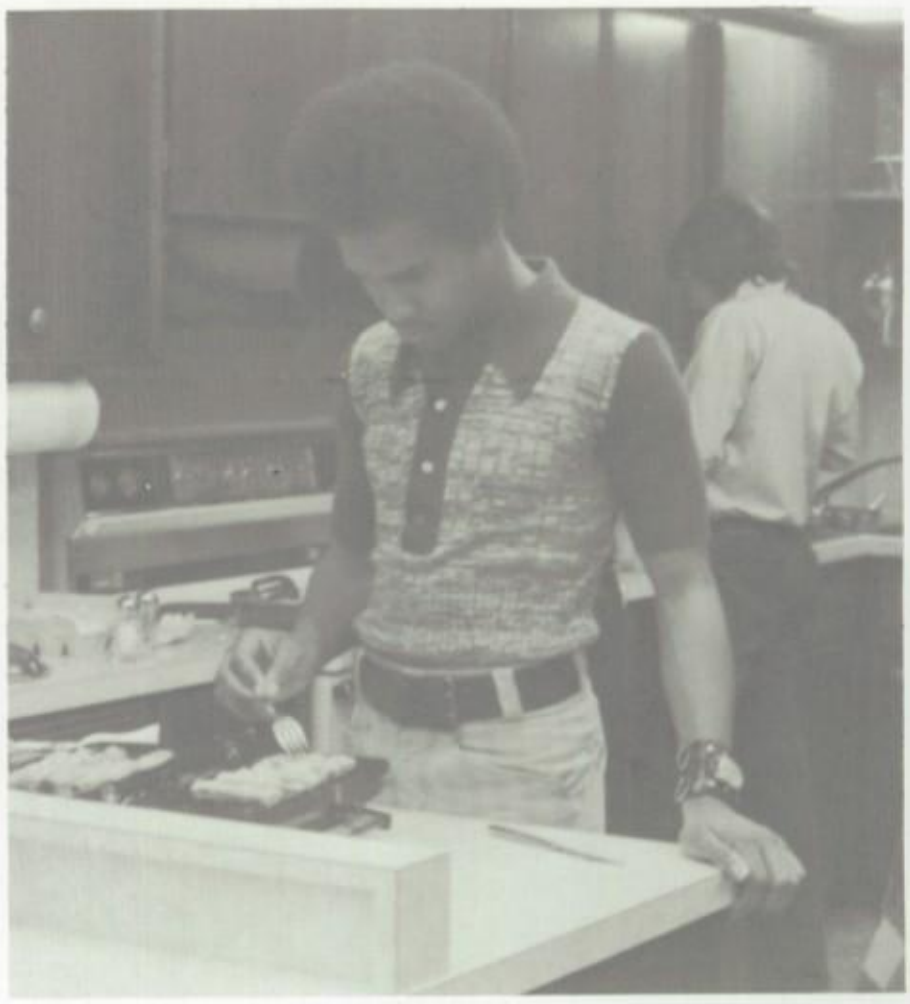
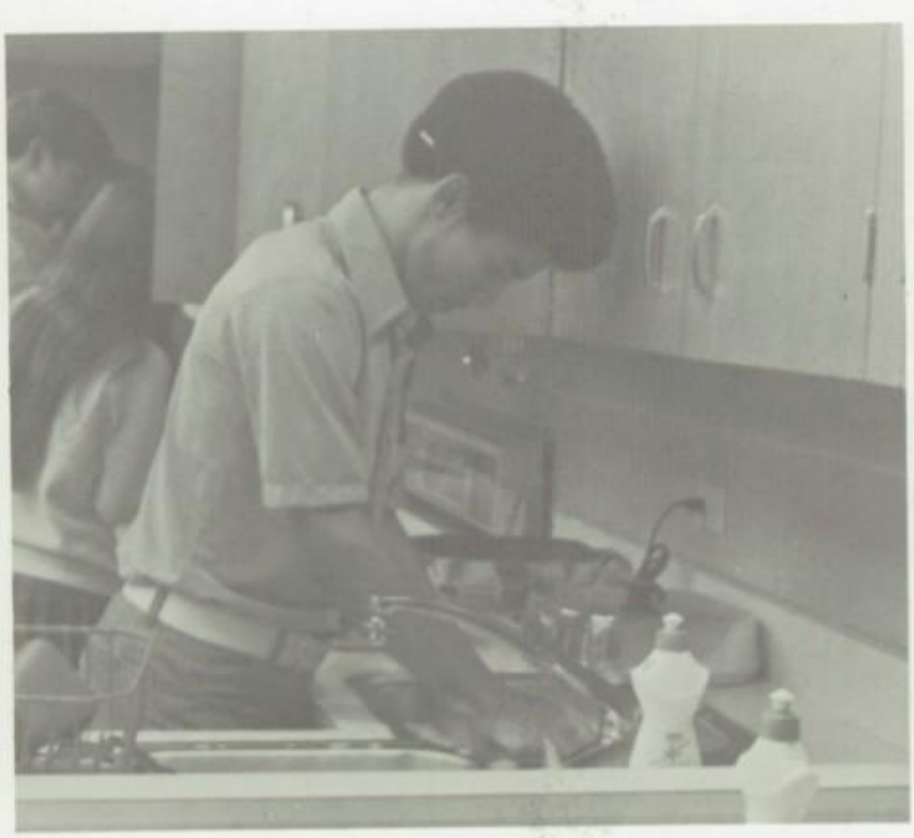
Flexible Scheduling Jolted Seniors

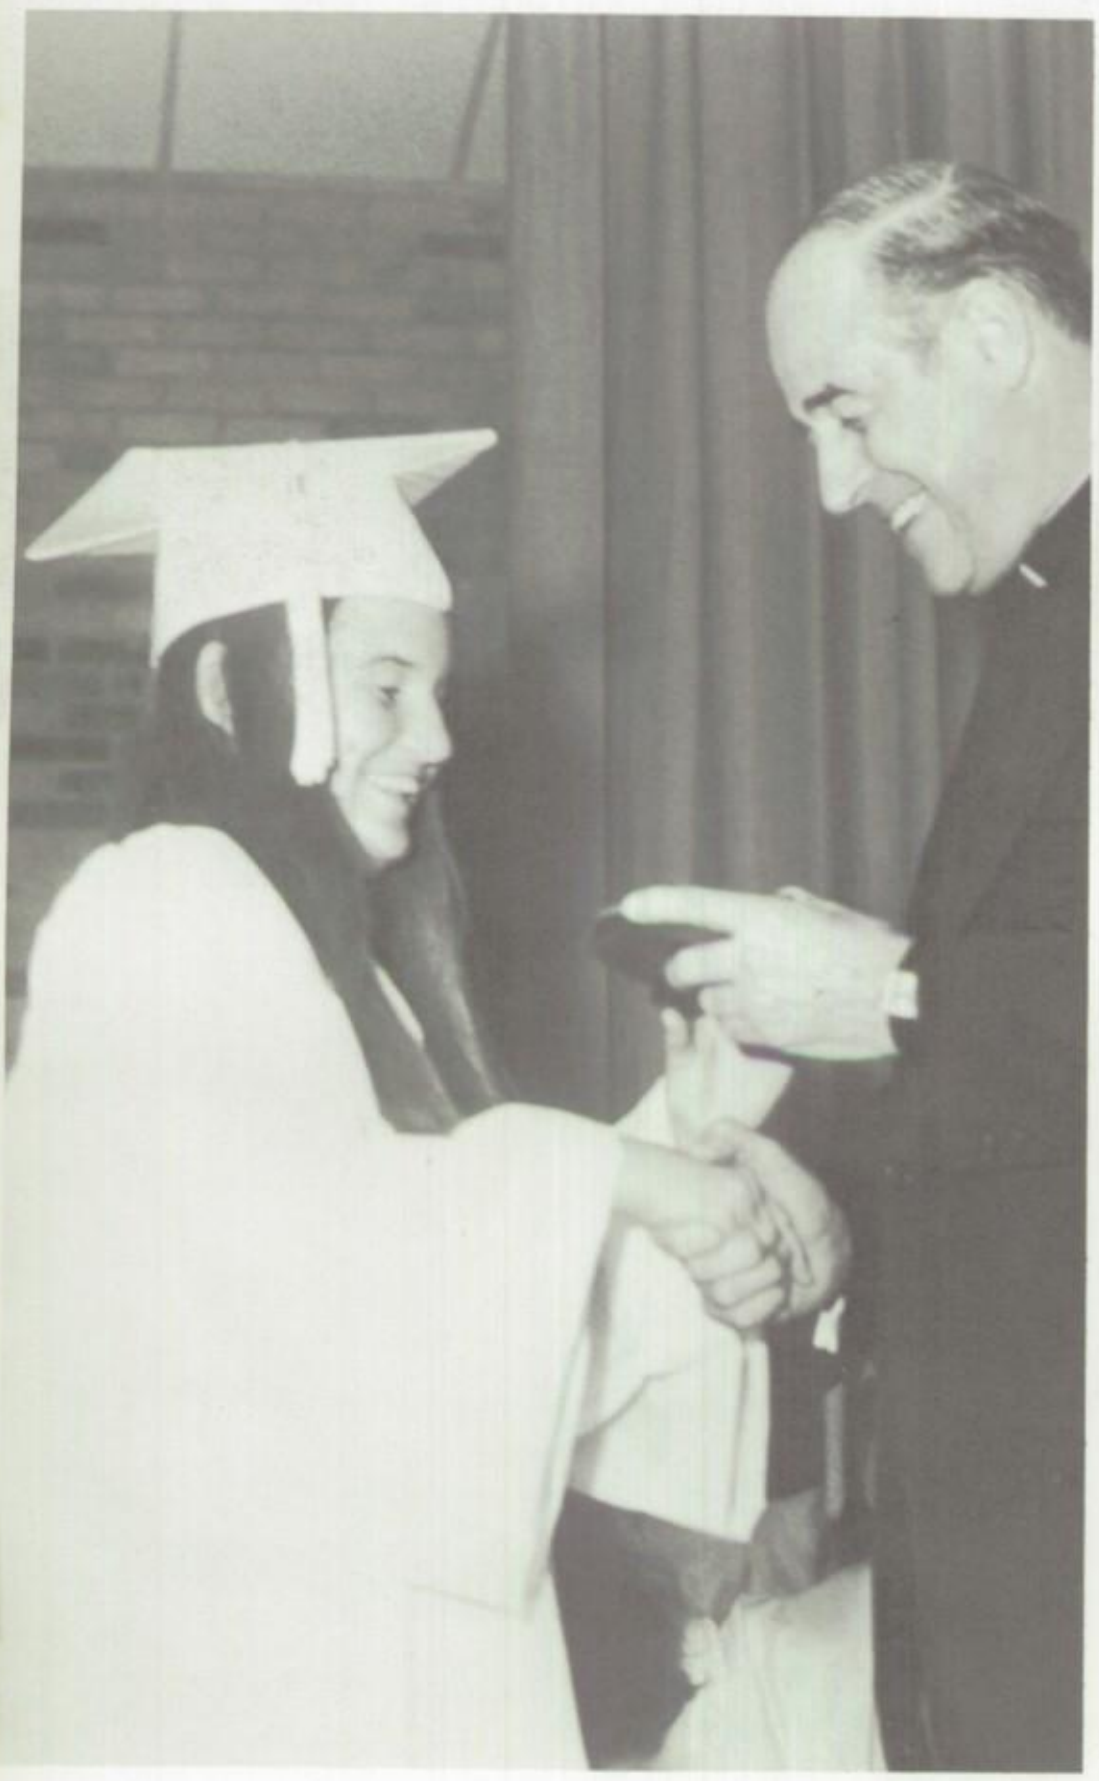


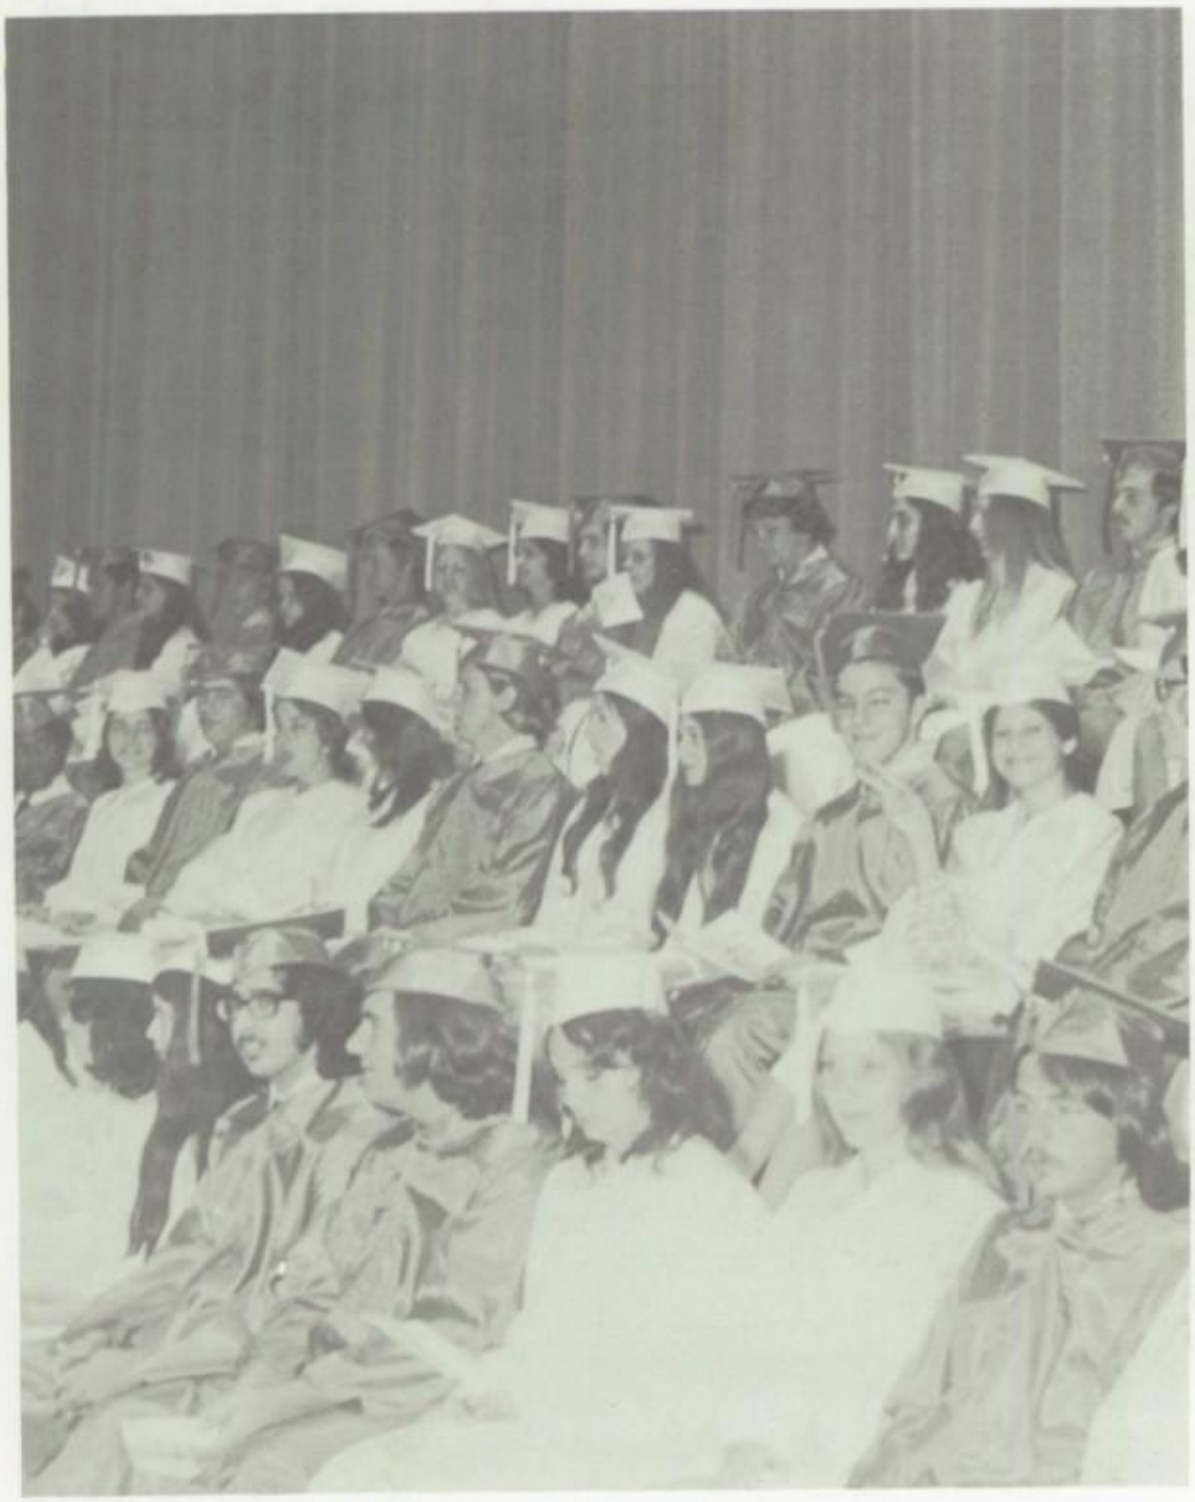
In its third year, St. Louis attempted a unique system of class scheduling called "pontooning." The seniors and a team of faculty members followed schedules made each week that were independent of the rest of the school's classroom schedules. This was done in order to discover the advantages of being able to lengthen or shorten a class period according to the needs of the class.

During the year, the seniors enjoyed off-campus P.E. activities, (skating and bowling) and elected mini-courses (short term, non-credit, informally-instructed courses) offered by St. Louis teachers having special interests, (wine-fermenting, yoga, household finance, cooking for boys, household improvement for girls).



Class of 1973





Honored Senior Graduates

Another first for St. Louis this year was graduation's being held in the new LC Civic Center Theater. The graduates gathered at 10:30 AM on Sunday, May 27, 1973, to receive their diplomas and to go their separate ways after being honored at the Senior Honors Assembly in the Union.

'72-'73 Pelican State Participants

Five St. Louis students participated in the 72-73 Louisiana Boys and Girls State. The eight day affair took place at Louisiana State University campus in Baton Rouge.

The students participated in mock state and city goverment elections and duties. Classes and assemblies were held daily along with athletic activities.

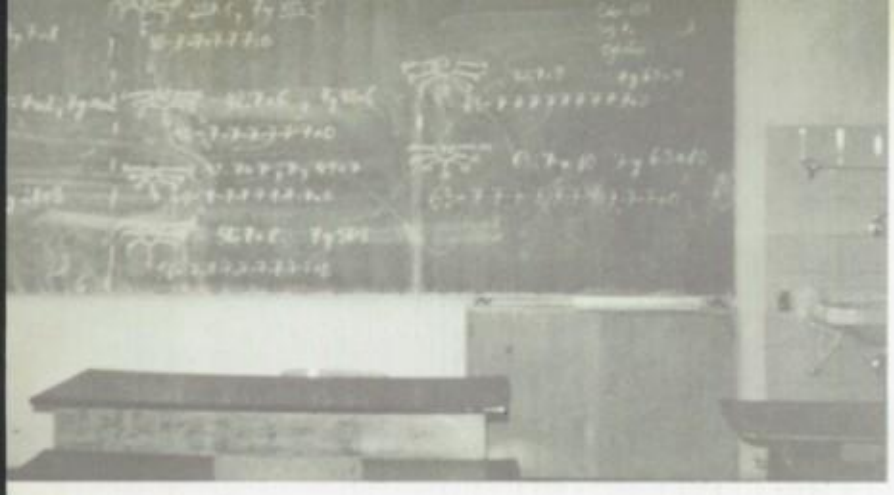
Look Out, Russia!

From March 28 to April 18 our principal, Msgr. Robert Angelle, toured Hungary, Yugoslavia, and Russia to examine the educational systems and culture behind the Iron Curtain with other members of the National Association of Secondary School Principals. The following several pages record his memories and comments about his once-in-a-lifetime experiences; although these memories are unclear, pictures and inadequately brief excerpts, perhaps a feeling of another life can be felt by looking into the eyes of its inhabitants through the eyes of its observer.

"The average Hungarian is not aware of Communism in his life--it is much less in evidence there than in Russia. There is a greater abundance of consumer goods, food, creature comforts, automobiles, private ownership, and even joie de vivre."



"Every American disenchanted with his country should visit Russia! We all need to cherish our land, our schools, friends, families, rights, and freedoms, especially freedom of religion. Thus cherishing them, we could more certainly guarantee that what has happened to that great land will never happen to this one, a nation still 'under God.'

"They do not seem to live . . . they have no freedoms to choose jobs, schools, curricula, homes, color, food, clothes, etc., but are made to "enjoy" the things chosen for them . . . Competition and desire of ownership are bled from the Russians at an early age. . ."

"As a Churchman, one is immediately depressed by the irony of so many visible signs of Religion, but no Faith, much less practice of Religion amongst all this Religious past and sacred History.

"From the beginning of our ten day visit in Russia, I told our guide, Valja, that I was a Catholic priest. Not with words, but in demeanor, then and throughout our stay, her reaction to this could be summed up as being, "It's too bad that an intelligent man needs such a crutch.'"

"As we took off for London on a DC-9, attended by beautiful girls working as stewardesses for the Scandinavian Airlines, we all clapped--no doubt happy to be 'free again.' After touchdowns in Stockholm and Copenhagen, we put down in London for R & R, to regain our wits prior to another 747 Pan-Am transoceanic flight back to the States."
